

It's ashame that when a company comes out with a product that's beats all the rest. that the majority can strong arm them in a way that stiffles there growth and the industry as a whole.